

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS FOR THE AWARD OF RESEARCH FELLOWSHIPS
Regulation on Research Fellowships pursuant to Italian Law no. 240/2010
Politecnico di Bari, issued by Rectoral Decree no. 252 of 05/07/2016

Decree no. 17/2019

Purpose

Applications are invited for the selection running at: Department of Civil, Environmental, Territory, Construction Engineering and Chemistry of the Politecnico di Bari for the award of:

-n. 1 professional grant research fellowship, for the execution of research activities within the project entitled: “Tunnel Surveys: study and analysis of technologies for the indoor positioning of unmanned vehicles and innovative methods of automated surveys, with which it is possible to monitor the convergence and the face of the excavation”, according to the annexed Activity Programme:

“Among the reference technologies to locate the most representative is the GNSS survey system. Due to known technological restrictions, this type of localization works only in open environments. The impossibility to have information about the location in indoor contexts has led the scientific world to design and develop different alternative indoor location systems in order to achieve what is commonly referred to as indoor GPS. IPS are systems that allow the localization of elements within a closed environment. Their main objective is to precisely geolocate sub-metrics within closed environments, using devices such as sensors and/or signal emitters in combination with GNSS systems to create a single localization system. The objective of the research is to catalogue, evaluate and eventually design the technologies currently available or under development, which allow localization indoors or in places where it is not possible to rely on the GNSS signal.”
